

How do I get well and stay well? This question echoes repeatedly from every people and locale around the entire globe. The answers to this question are within the following article for those that will read.

A true picture of healing the human body relies upon principles outlined according our Creator as given to the prophet Moses. A healing miracle is not the suspension of natural law, but the operation of a Higher Law. There is a true urgency to share of the significant findings regarding the health and healing principles to people of all communities of faith.

When the Creator Almighty God spoke unto Moses, he gave instructions for using an earthen vessel while standing at the East Gate for healing. The necessity of understanding one's direction and principles of earth energy were established with these little noticed instructions. What were these ancient principles of Hebrew medicine and how can these principles be applied today for providing cure for the incurable? An ancient earthen vessel 'time capsule' provided answers comprising her doctoral dissertation 'Tikkun Olam: To Heal the World.' In this study, presented by Rabbi Yellen, the research is shared in a step by step manner that makes the most hard to understand details clear to the listener. The research of Rabbi and Rebbetzin Yellen has closely investigated the legends of the robust health of the Hebrew people. The ground breaking documentation identifies potential powerful cures from the simplest of remedies: WORSHIP!

The researchers examined what the ancient Hebrew people used for 'manna' and implementation of an 'energy source' while at worship. The worship was to include very specific items, utilized with very specific details that have been overlooked by most modern day observant communities of faith. Painstaking analysis of ancient patterns of Torah instruction has been conducted in this nearly seven year study. Controversy over the practice of holistic medicine and a desire to understand the reasons for its success and failures created impetus for this investigation.

The ancient Hebrews had healing ceremonies in which they used a particular earthen stone-vessel for healing, as a lie detector, and for purification purposes. Today, to modern minds their methods might seem rather primitive. However, consistent success has resulted from simply following the Torah instructions!

With the sleuth work to investigate this ancient stone-vessel, secrets from the past emerged. Extensive laboratory testing and scholarly analysis performed consistently demonstrated that the ancient Holy 'Torah' documents were faithfully preserved and accurately described not only the location of Mount Sinai and Horeb but also the specific detailed ceremonial ritual of restoring health for those seeking it. The questions were raised as to why the ancient Hebrew people were successful in keeping healthy and well. The ancient time capsule of this vessel of Moses revealed the clues for their success in the laws of clean and unclean. These were not classifications as to how well you scrubbed; these were classifications regarding one's electrical conductivity.

Because of the stone-vessel examination, sensitive Radionics testing determined that the ancient time capsule had seven signature frequencies. The group of frequencies provided the healing “match” for the pathogenic groups that the late Dr. Hanson discovered to be the source of all disease whether in man, animals or plants. Dr. Hanson as a Veterinarian identified these as “leprosy” frequencies. Although these leprosy groups are not recognized by today’s diagnosticians, the team of researchers recognized the correlation of classification of ‘incurable’ forms. The signature frequency match provided understanding of a primitive form of 'Rife' waves believed to be capable of shattering all pathogenic life forms.

One particular photograph of the ceremonial Hebrew stone-vessel has revealed a wave pattern of the 'Doppler effect' of alternating red and blue lights. The researchers learned that ‘star dust’ gives off this same wave pattern. It is believed this ancient healing vessel contains remnants of the long sought culinary ashes of the ‘parah’ first fruits. The Torah literature that refers to this ancient healing stone-vessel has provided clues regarding the meaning of past healing and its practical implications today. The primary researchers amazingly discovered through scientific testing and verification, evidence of each component of the various worship services intact at the appropriate scales upon this healing vessel.

The color of Sapphire blue is said to be the color of the two tablets of stone upon which the Ten Commandment law was written by the finger of Almighty GOD. What is the meaning of this Sapphire blue color? What is the color of clean swimming pools? Blue. What is the color of a beautiful ocean, especially with the white sand? Blue. What color fire’s hottest in temperature yet coolest to touch portion? Blue.

Today we are in the time of the Latter Rain and the Holy Fire of our Creator. The imagery used in Scripture to symbolically describe this wonderful combination is the term “sapphire” and it certainly reflects the right color! Healers world wide consider sapphire blue the ultimate healing color. Red has always been a symbol of the curse of sin, requiring the scarlet lettered solutions of repentance. Each year in the Day of Atonement service, a scarlet cord stained by pomegranate symbolized the repentance of Israel. If Israel’s repentance was accepted, the color of the crimson cord changed to white. The impossible stains of pomegranate were removed by a miracle indeed!

Within natural medicine there are known cycles of seven. The required counting of seven days for the cured leper to wait before being returned to the people reflected the ever-present natural rhythm of the sevens cycles for healing. Practitioners of natural health understand that healing takes place every seven seconds, every seven minutes, every seven hours, every seven days, every seven weeks, every seven months and every seven years. This documented phenomenon indicates the signature of the Creator within the various created organisms.

The research has compared the effects upon the human organism between the ingestion of intoxicating wine versus pure grape juice. This research demonstrates that fermented grape juice is devastating in its effect! The research conducted by Faithful Covenant Foundation tested samples ranging from the most expensive bottles of fermented wine down to the local winery special. Each and every one tested zero in terms of contribution of wave energy. If your house of worship is giving you fermented wine, and refined fluffy white flour bread, you are not being healed. The researchers believe a call for reform is demanded! The invitation is extended to spiritual leaders within houses of worship world wide to repent and offer their congregations that which truly heals!

Faithful Covenant determines to further test the parameters of ancient healing that this generation has been introduced to through this ancient time capsule. It is believed that this humanitarian project has implications of benefiting all of mankind. Never before has historical research offered the hope for mankind healing with a guaranteed cure based on the Holy Scriptures.
